

Rice Market Report

Italy: More increases on the risotto rice paddies.

Although the price is rising, farmers are still not willing to sell Arborio paddy, some even do a sort of blackmail, selling for example a little Arborio paddy on the condition that the rice mill also takes Leonidas paddy (Carnaroli type).

It seems that the Arborio situation will not improve anytime soon. Some people think that once the new harvest is available, farmers will not lower the price of Arborio so easily.

Indica paddy is officially no longer offered in price lists this week. At the moment, there is no availability of this product on the market. The prices given below are therefore subjective, in the sense that people who still have paddy can sell it at a very high price, higher than the market price. As a result, prices of finished Indica products can vary extremely widely depending on demand and availability. Prices like €1'100/mt for Indica white rice 15% broken or €1'300/mt for parboiled indica are offered.

Weather-wise, no real improvement over the last two weeks. We need more sun!

The prices of by-products have been increasing over the past two weeks.
