Rice Market Report

Italy: Again this week there has not been a greater willingness from the farmers to sell the or to purchase from the rice mills. There was hardly anyone in the market of Vercelli, we can say that it was a dead market ... Therefor we have seen some small price's decrease.

However rice mills are wary especially for Arborio and Round as they are certain that the prices will increase very quickly upon the resumption of purchases. This conviction is explained by the fact that there is approx. 29% of Arborio paddy and 40% round paddy available until the new harvest.

The rumours are rife again this week, supposedly that one can buy Indica paddy to € 290 and for paddy Sole rumour remained at € 330. Nevertheless just like last week, strangely there is not a farmer who agreed to sell at those prices. Obviously we are talking about general sales and not about the possible and exceptional truck of Sole (nobody could confirm the price of € 290/MT not even for one single truck of Indica paddy), probably with a very low yield, which might have been sold at these levels

Since there is not a lot of work, the prices of by-products will probably go up again.
