

Rice Market Report

Italy: All the actors were present at the markets this week but practically nothing happened. It must be said that with these prices the farmers do not have a great desire to sell, so we have the same price ranges as last week.

The price of the Baldo could increase in the future because there is not much availability so if Turkey starts to buy it will be sufficient to make a price increase. The general idea is that the price of the Arborio / Volano should not increase in the near future because there is still a lot of availability. We have to see what will be remaining in June.

The situation of by-products does not change, high prices and no availability... To be able to offer some broken some rice mills seek to buy rice of mediocre quality that they mill and in which they leave the broken. This kind of product, if available, is sold at the prices of Mezzagrana / Corpetto or Corpettone.
